EKURHULENI EAST TVET COLLEGE
"Committed to Excellence"

The Minister of Higher Education, Science and Technology has permitted TVET Colleges return some of their staff member to prepare for the reopening of the Colleges. This came after the president has declared that the country is moving to level 4 in terms of lockdown regulations.

Ekurhuleni East TVET College (EEC) welcomed a first group of employees at the head office following the easing of the lockdown restriction's, this was done following strict line with the guidelines by the department of higher education. All staff member that were welcomed are a select number that its purpose is to plan for the reopening.

The reopening follows a campus to campus deep cleaning and sanitization of all campuses, work stations and the head office.

All staff members were screened up on their arrival at the head office entrance following strict measures and screening protocols. Subsequent to screening all staff members were marshaled to the stadium as an identified assemble point. Our assembly point was also spacious, open and allowing people to observe 1.5 social distance.

As the college we are pleased with welcoming and orientation of our first load of staff members, we encourage all those staff members that are not yet invited to come to work, to stay at home and stay safe.
